

MOONBEAM

The second book of Sister Rebecca Mary's trilogy of books for children ages 8-12.

From the book's back outside cover...

Maggie the mouse makes her first appearance in this book. Ringtail wonders with scorn if a mouse wearing glasses and reading a dictionary can be normal and therefore a good meal? The answer is “No.” She is not normal. She is special and therefore cannot be eaten. Ringtail is barely convinced of this fact when real danger threatens. Some animal is causing wide-spread destruction in Mrs. Anderson’s rose garden. What could it be? A badger! This unwelcome creature is not only big but mean and angry. How will Zatfur, for that is his name, fit into the daily lives of the gentle and loving animals? Will they reject him or will he be able to change and fit in? The magic of MoonBeam comes over him to provide the healing he needs. MoonBeam is not a what but a who, not a thing, but a person. MoonBeam is a dazzling princess from the Land of Beyond. Meet Maggie, Zatfur and MoonBeam as they interact with the characters you came to know and love first in The Midnight Rose.

MoonBeam is the second book of a trilogy.

The story begins in The Midnight Rose and concludes in The Fire King.

The book has 80 pages with illustrations in black ink and pen by the author. The paperback book has a colorful laminated cover and sturdy binding; size 5 1/2” x 8 1/2.” Published 2010.
